

BonkList Terms of Use

We're not fans of boring legal stuff either. But hey, some things just need to be crystal clear. Let's get to it!

Effective Date: XX / XX / XXXX

Want a PDF version of these Terms? Just click here to download!

Quick Summaries

To make life easier, we've added a quick summary to the top of each section! But heads up: these are just for guidance. The full details still matter — so yes, we really want you to read the whole thing. (Yup, all of it!)

Subscribed Through an External Service?

(Like an Apple ID or Google Play...)

If you want to cancel your subscription, you'll need to do it through that service.

If you signed up with your Apple ID, refunds aren't processed by us — you'll need to go through Apple.

To request a refund from Apple:

You can use the settings on your phone under Apple ID, or visit

<https://getsupport.apple.com> for help.

For Everyone Else

If you subscribed to BonkList directly and want a refund, you've got a few options:

- Contact our Help Center.
- Go old-school and send us a letter:

Just write a dated, signed statement saying something like “I’m cancelling this contract.”

Send it to:

Hadisatalım Biz Elektronik Ticaret ve Pazarlama Hizmetleri A.Ş. (Hadisatalım Biz)

Emniyet Evler Mah. Eski Büyükdere Cad. Sapphire Sitesi No:1/1 Kagithane, Istanbul, Türkiye

And if you'd like a copy of these Terms of Use emailed to you, just drop us a message at legal@bonklist.com.

1. INTRO

Take a Peek Before You Say Yes!

Welcome to BonkList!

By checking out our app, creating an account, or just popping in to “see what’s going on,” you're agreeing to:

- Our Privacy Policy
- Our Cookie Policy
- Our Community Guidelines
- Our Safety Tips

...and of course, these Terms of Use (we just call them “the Terms”).

In short: Before you jump in, we recommend reading all of these documents. It'll make for a smoother start—for you and for us!

What If There's a Dispute? (Spoiler Alert for Section 15)

We've gone into detail in Section 15, but here's a little preview:

If, someday (fingers crossed you won't), you and we run into a disagreement, we start by trying to resolve things amicably. That's called our "informal resolution process."

This applies to everything—except serious stuff like sexual abuse or harassment.

If the issue can't be resolved this way, then what?

- Arbitration (that's solving things with a neutral expert, not in court)
- No court trials—instead, arbitration
- No class actions, no jury trials
- A few extra procedures (they sound more intimidating than they are—promise)
Chances are we'll never need this, but just in case... it's all set.

Will There Be Updates? You Bet.

The world spins and we evolve.

So yes, we might update these Terms from time to time.

But we won't leave you in the dark—we'll let you know when there's a change.

Swing by this page every now and then, okay?

The Vibe

Even when it's "rules," we try to keep it fun, clear, and human.

Because BonkList isn't just an app. It's a community.

And it's way more awesome with you in it.

Welcome to BonkList!

These Terms of Use are between you and us—meaning:

Hadisatalım Biz Elektronik Ticaret ve Pazarlama Hizmetleri A.Ş.

Address: Emniyet Evler Mah. Eski Büyükdere Cad. Sapphire Sitesi No:1/1, Kagithane, Istanbul, Türkiye

Anytime you see words like "we," "us," "our," "BonkList," or "the Company" in this document, they all refer to Hadisatalım Biz A.Ş., no matter where you're located.

You and we together are the "Parties." Individually, each of us is a "Party." Sounds official, but we're still chill!

By Using the Service, You Agree to These Terms

Whether you're browsing BonkList.com, using the app, or popping in through some other platforms, you're agreeing to these Terms.

So yep, even if you're just lurking without an account, these rules still apply. (Yes, you!)

These Terms also include:

- Our Privacy Policy
- Our Cookie Policy
- Our Community Guidelines
- Our Safety Tips
- And any extra terms you agreed to when you bought a feature, product, or service from us ("Post-Purchase Additional Terms").

As a summary, If you don't agree to the rules, please pause before checking out BonkList. We're all for fun, but we like to keep things clear too.

Can These Terms Change? Totally.

Things change, and so do we.

We can update these Terms whenever we need to—within legal limits, of course.

If we make a major change:

- We'll post the new version here with the effective date
- Sometimes we'll email or notify you another way (no surprises!).

However, it's up to you to check back periodically. If you keep using BonkList, it means you're cool with the updates.

If you're not cool with them, we're bummed... but you'll need to stop using our services.

Are There Exceptions? Yep. Two Big Ones:

- Section 14: Limitation of Liability
- Section 15: Dispute Resolution

For big changes in these sections to be valid, we'll need your explicit approval. So don't just skim them—we'll be waiting for your "yep, I'm in."

Plans Might Change Too

Our subscription plans and the features included may change from time to time.

Don't worry—we'll always try to do it in a way that doesn't mess with the fun.

Bottom Line:

You're here to have fun. We're here to protect that.

The rules are clear, the tone is warm, and the intent is transparent.

Now go on—get back to Bonkin'!

BonkList is a fun zone—but also a safe space.

We want to laugh, compete, and challenge each other together.

But to keep the good vibes rolling, there are a few things we have to say loud and clear.

Below, you’ll find our absolute no-gos. These are our non-negotiables.

If you’re thinking “Nah, I can’t stick to that,” we’re gonna be real with you—BonkList probably isn’t the place for you.

What You Can’t Do on BonkList

Let’s be real for a sec — BonkList is a fun place, but we’ve got some ground rules to keep it safe, respectful, and awesome for everyone.

Here’s what you absolutely CANNOT do:

1. You can’t hide who you are. No lying about your age, identity, or affiliations.
2. You can’t mess with the system. No crashing, freezing, or interfering with our Services.
3. You can’t attack our servers, network, or other users — not cool.
4. You can’t use BonkList for money laundering, fraud, or anything illegal.
5. You can’t harass, bully, stalk, threaten, defame, or inflict emotional/physical harm. Zero tolerance!

14. You can't share confidential info that isn't yours to share.

27. If your account has been suspended, you can't return without our explicit approval.
28. You can't abuse our reporting tools, falsely accuse users, or engage in targeted harassment.

What Happens If You Break These Rules?

Let's not sugarcoat it:

Even one violation can result in your access being immediately terminated.

We may suspend or delete your account without warning.

Because here, fun is important — but safety comes first.

Welcome to the “Absolutely Not” Club

BonkList is all about unlimited fun — but we do have limits.

We're a safe, inclusive, and respectful space.

So here's a list of content we absolutely do not allow.

Read this carefully — because sharing this kind of content could get your account suspended or permanently banned. Yes, we're serious.

You CANNOT Share Content That Is:

1. Offensive or disturbing: Anything that belittles, harms, or exploits others psychologically.
2. Obscene or pornographic: Excessive nudity or violent sexual content? No way.
3. Hateful or discriminatory: Racism, sexism, hate speech, threats, fanaticism — banned across the board.

4. Promoting illegal activity: Terrorism, inciting crime, or actually committing one — nope.
5. Encouraging harm: Dangerous challenges, self-harm, extreme acts — big no.
6. Defamatory or false: Harassment, insults, or knowingly spreading lies.
7. Promotional/ads: Product pitches, adult services, "rich boyfriend" ads, shady redirects, or premium numbers.
8. Spam: Content pushing mass emails or other annoying spam tactics.
9. Malicious: Viruses, spyware, Trojans, or anything designed to wreck things.
10. Violating others' rights: IP theft, privacy breaches, or unauthorized sharing.
11. Not yours to post: Only share your own original content. Don't repost others' stuff without permission.
12. Unauthorized photos: Faces, portraits, or minors' photos — not okay without clear permission.
13. Child content: Any visual of a child without a guardian, naked, or inappropriately shown — zero tolerance.
14. Not in BonkList spirit: Anything that goes against the purpose or vibe of BonkList.
15. Damaging our reputation: Any content aimed at slandering or discrediting BonkList or our partners — nope.

What Happens If You Post Any of This?

If you upload or share any of the content listed above, we may — without any warning:

- Suspend your account
- Permanently remove you from the platform

Because we're serious about keeping BonkList safe, supportive, and respectful for everyone.

Bottom line:

Fun should be limitless — but so should respect.

As long as you're cool with that, we're here to give you the best BonkList experience possible. Let's bonk on — the right way!

3. CONTENT — Yours, Ours, and Everyone Else's

BonkList isn't just about fun — it's also about what you share.

Your profile info, photos, challenge responses, messages... yep, it's all content!

And with content come rights, responsibilities, and a few important rules. Let's break it down:

You'll See 3 Types of Content on BonkList:

1. YOUR CONTENT

Anything you upload or provide to us — photos, texts, videos, profile bios, messages — it's all yours.

And that means you're responsible for it. All of it.

2. MEMBER CONTENT

Stuff other BonkListers post.

You can view these, and enjoy them — but you can't reuse or repurpose it. That content belongs to them.

3. OUR CONTENT

Challenges, prompts, matches, graphics, app visuals — basically anything BonkList creates and serves to you.

That's our stuff, and we hold the rights.

Quick Reminder:

When we say "content," we don't just mean photos — it includes text, audio, video, even your direct messages. Yup, all of it!

Posting Inappropriate Stuff? Don't you dare!

BonkList is a space for positive vibes, safety, and fun.

There's no room here for inappropriate, offensive, or rule-breaking content.

(Need a refresher? Scroll back to our "Prohibited Content" section.)

What Do We Do With All This Content?

We take content management and community safety seriously.

If you're curious how, feel free to check out our detailed content and safety policies.

In Short:

You bring the good vibes and share cool stuff, and we make sure the environment stays fun and secure.

BonkList is a place where everyone should feel free and fabulous, as long as we all play by the same rules.

3a. Your Content, Your Responsibility!

BonkList is where your content shines — but let's be clear:

You're fully responsible for everything you share.

So, here's your friendly heads-up:

If it's something you...

- Wouldn't want others to see,
 - Think breaks this Agreement or our Community Guidelines,
 - might land in legal hot water (and may even involve us)...
- Don't post it. Seriously. Just don't.

What You Share Matters

- You're solely responsible for what you upload.

- If someone complains or sues us because of your content, we won't be defending you — you'll need to defend us.
- Keep your content accurate. If your profile info is outdated or wrong, it's your job to fix it.
- Don't post anything that's banned (check the "Prohibited Content" section).
- Anything that doesn't vibe with our Community Guidelines? Not cool — and not allowed.

No Oversharing Personal Info (Yours or Others')

- You can't display personal details in your profile like phone numbers, home addresses, IBANs, emails, P2P usernames, or bank info — whether it's yours or someone else's.
- Wanna share your own info anyway? That's your choice, but it's 100% at your own risk.
We'll say it louder for the people in the back: The internet never forgets. Be smart.

Your Content is Global

BonkList is a worldwide community.

That means your profile, challenge responses, and other content can be viewed by users worldwide.

So before you hit "post," ask yourself:

"Would I be okay if the whole world saw this?"

By sharing your content, you're confirming:

- You actually own it,
- You've got all the rights and permissions you need,
- And you're giving us certain rights to that content (more on that below .

Our Tools, Your Creativity

We continuously build features to make your content more fun — filters, effects, creative tools, smart suggestions... you name it.

But here's the deal:

- What you create using our tools is still your content.
- And you're still responsible for it — including its accuracy and any results or consequences it brings.

Content Review — Yep, That's On Us

- We're not required to pre-approve your content.
- But we can choose to edit, hide, flag, or fully remove your content if needed.
- We're not obligated to — but we reserve the right to do so when necessary.

In short:

Everything you post on BonkList is yours.
But to keep this a safe and awesome place for everyone, we have boundaries and moderation powers.

You post responsibly, and we'll keep the vibe fun, respectful, and secure. Deal?

3b. Other Users' Content (a.k.a. Member Content)

You're not the only one sharing on BonkList — other users are part of the party too!
Their challenge entries, comments, bios, videos, and more are called “Member Content.”

And yep, there are some clear rules here.

First Things First:

- That content belongs to them.
- It's hosted on our servers, but they control it.
- BonkList simply stores and displays it when needed — we don't own it.

What You Can't Do:

You may not:

- Copy, download, repost, resell, or reuse anyone else's content without their permission.
- Use Member Content to:
 - Send spam
 - Run a business
 - Harass, stalk, or threaten anyone
- Use it for anything other than fun, challenges, or learning? Not allowed.

If you break these rules, we may have to close your account — no hard feelings, just community safety.

Don't Believe Everything You See

Let's be real:

Some Member Content might be:

- Inaccurate
- Incomplete
- Misleading — intentionally or not

So just because you saw it on BonkList doesn't mean it's gospel truth.
Think critically, do your own research, and always stay sharp.

Every user is fully responsible for their own content.

We don't guarantee its accuracy or reliability.

In short:

You can view and enjoy other people's content — but:

- Be respectful
- Don't misuse it
- Don't exploit it for harmful or commercial reasons

BonkList is all about self-expression with mutual respect. Stick to that vibe, and you're already a BonkList legend.

3c. Our Content – Our Copyright, Your Joy (Within Limits)

Those eye-catching graphics, wild challenge prompts, icons, illustrations, sounds, and interfaces you see on BonkList?

They didn't just fall from the internet sky.

They're ours.

Yep — and they're protected by copyright.

What That Means:

- Every bit of text, visual, video, sound, logo, layout, or user interface you see on BonkList is either:
 - Created by us, or
 - Legally licensed for our use.
- That means they're protected by copyright, trademark, and other intellectual property laws.
- In short: These are our creative babies — and we love them dearly.

But Don't Worry — We're Sharing (a Little)

We're not total control freaks.

To make BonkList awesome for you, we give you a limited, personal, non-transferable license (explained in Section 6).

So yes, you can enjoy our content as part of using BonkList.

But that doesn't mean you can:

- Copy it
- Sell it
- Pretend it's yours
- Use it without permission

To sum up:

Our Content = Our Craft

We made it for your fun — but we still hold the keys.

Play, laugh, enjoy — but don't forget whose stuff it is.

4. Inappropriate Content or Bad Behavior?

No Room for That on BonkList!

Yes, BonkList is all about fun.
But we're serious about being a safe, respectful, and positive community.

So when it comes to inappropriate content or harmful behavior, we don't look the other way. Ever.

What Do We Mean by “Inappropriate”?

- Content that breaks the rules
- Harassment, bullying, threats, or discriminatory behaviors
- Anything that compromises user privacy or safety
- Deliberate attempts to misuse or exploit our platform

Whether it happens inside the BonkList app or on platforms offered by our partner companies, inappropriate behavior gets a hard NO from us.

Spot Something Off? Report It Immediately!

We're all in this together.

If someone is bothering you or you come across questionable content, don't hesitate — let us know!

You can:

- Go to the user's profile → Tap “Report User”
- Report directly from the message thread
- Contact Customer Support if needed

Pro tip: The sooner you report, the safer everyone stays.

What We Do to Keep Things Safe

We explain it more fully in our Privacy Policy, but here's the short version:

We take your safety — and the safety of others — very seriously.

So, when needed:

- We may share information with our affiliated companies
- If we detect a rule violation, we can:
 - Suspend your account
 - Block access to BonkList or affiliated partner services
 - Prevent you from creating new accounts
- And yes — to protect others, we may not always share everything about these actions with you.

See a Copyright Violation?

If you believe someone's content infringes your intellectual property rights and you want to take formal action, head to Section 12 for info on filing a DMCA claim.

We lay out all the steps there — nice and clear.

The Bottom Line:

BonkList is fun — but never without boundaries.

Inappropriate content and toxic behavior have no place here.

As long as you're part of this community, we'll keep doing everything we can to make sure you:

- Feel safe
- Feel respected
- And have a blast being here.

5. Privacy — We Seriously Care

While you're having fun, we're working behind the scenes to keep your privacy protected!

At BonkList, ensuring your safety is our top priority.

So no — we don't take privacy lightly.

In fact, we've got an entire policy dedicated to it!

What Should You Do?

Make sure you check out our Privacy Policy.

There you'll find clear answers to things like:

- What data we collect
- How we use it
- Who we might share it with (and why)
- What your rights are — and more!

What Happens When You Accept That Policy?

By using our Services, you're also agreeing to our Privacy Policy.

That means:

You're giving us permission to use certain personal information about you — and, when needed, share it — as described in that policy.

But don't worry — it's all so we can protect you and enhance your experience.

Your data is safe with us. Period.

The Short Version:

We love transparency.

Your info is your treasure, and we treat it that way.

If you want all the details, our Privacy Policy is always clear, accessible, and easy to understand.

6. The Rights BonkList Gives You

You joined BonkList, you're playing by the rules, the vibe is great...

So here's a small but important gift from us:

The right to use BonkList!

But What Does That Actually Mean?

Let us break it down:

As long as you follow these Terms of Use, we grant you a license that is:

- Personal – just for you
- Worldwide – works wherever you are
- Free – yep, no royalties!
- Non-transferable & non-sublicensable – you can't pass it on or rent it out
- Non-exclusive & revocable – you're not the only one with it, and if you break the rules, we can take it back

This license allows you to:

- Enjoy BonkList
- Join the fun
- Interact within the limits we've set

Break the Rules = Lose the License

So what happens if you don't play nice?

Simple:

Your license ends.

Your access to BonkList ends.

And yep — we can remove you without any warning.

In Short:

Using BonkList is a privilege, and we respect that.

We simply ask that you do the same.

Stick to the rules, and let the fun roll on!

7. Your Content, The Rights You Share With Us

When you share content on BonkList, you still own it.

But in order for us to show it, run it, or (if needed) use it in our promotional materials, you're also giving us certain rights.

And hey — that's fair, right?

What Happens When You Share Content?

When you upload content to BonkList (text, image, video, profile description, etc.), you're granting us a license that is:

- Worldwide
- Perpetual (no expiration date)

- Transferable
- Sublicensable
- Royalty-free (meaning we don't have to pay you)
- Adaptable for derivative works

With this license, we can:

- Show, store, reproduce, translate, or edit your content.
- Use it in BonkList screenshots or promotional materials.
- But don't worry — you still own the content.

BonkList Can Act On Your Behalf (If Needed)

If someone steals your content and uses it without permission, BonkList can (if it chooses to) act on your behalf:

We might send a DMCA notice or request its removal.

But keep in mind:

We're not required to do this — it's just something we may do to help you out.

Since We're Talking About Advertising...

By using BonkList, you agree that we can include ads in our services.

Yep — there might be ads.

That's how we keep things fun and sustainable.

Sent Us Feedback? Love That!

If you send us a suggestion or feedback, like “this feature would have been 💧” —

You agree that we can:

- Develop it,
- Use it,
- Share it,

Without owing you any payment.

Because we grow better together!

If the Law Comes Knocking...

In certain situations (like a court order, suspected fraud, or a security threat), BonkList may:

- Access your account info
- Access and store your shared content
- Share it with the appropriate authorities

We do this in order to:

- (i) Comply with the law
- (ii) Enforce these Terms
- (iii) Protect third-party rights
- (iv) Respond to customer support requests
- (v) Keep everyone safe

In Short:

Your content stays yours — but to make it more visible, fun, and impactful, you’re letting us use some rights along the way.
With mutual trust, everything becomes way better.

8. Purchases and Subscriptions – Got Your Credit Card Ready?

On BonkList, you can buy certain fun extras — like exclusive features, challenges, or extra goodies.

Some are one-time purchases, others are subscription-based, meaning they automatically renew unless you cancel them.

Auto-Renewing Subscriptions

When you purchase a subscription, unless you cancel it:

- It renews automatically at the end of each billing period
- You’re charged using the payment method you provided, at the price shown during purchase
- And yes — you authorize us to do this in advance

But don’t worry —

You can cancel your subscription anytime.

If you cancel, you’ll still have full access until the end of the current billing period.

How Can You Purchase? In-App or Through Someone Else?

There are two ways to make purchases on BonkList:

1. External Purchases

- Made through platforms like Apple iTunes or Google Play
- We call these “External Services”
- Their terms and conditions apply — not ours

2. Internal Purchases

- Made directly via the BonkList app or website using your credit card
- Your payment method is stored with us, and renewals are handled by us

Whichever method you used to subscribe, you must cancel through that same platform.

Why Do Prices Vary?

BonkList is a global community.

Prices can vary based on:

- Your location
- Subscription duration
- The package you chose
- Your purchase history
- And sometimes, just that day’s promo!

We sometimes test out surprise discounts, new plans, or payment options, so not everyone sees the same price.

But don't worry: we're always transparent.

Our Right to Make Changes

BonkList reserves the right to:

- Limit or discontinue any product, service, or feature
- Modify the terms of coupons or promos
- Decline service to any user at our discretion

And yes — we may do this without prior notice.

(But only to improve your experience. Promise.)

In short:

The more things you buy on BonkList, the more fun you experience.

But be mindful of your subscriptions:

Don't end up saying, "Oops, it charged me again!" — stay in control.

8a. Purchases and Subscriptions Through External Services

You might fall in love with BonkList and want to unlock extra features — totally normal!

To access these, you might make a purchase using outside platforms like your Apple ID or Google Play account.

That's what this section is all about.

Where Is the Purchase Made?

- If you pay through Apple, Google, or similar External Services, the entire process is governed by their rules.
- Subscriptions made on these platforms auto-renew unless canceled.
- Taxes may be added based on your location — again, that's determined by the External Service.

Auto-Renewals

- Subscriptions renew automatically at your selected term and price
- If you signed up through a promo, it may revert to the regular price after the first period — don't be surprised
- Charges are processed automatically without further action from you.

Want to Cancel?

Super easy — but important:

Deleting the BonkList app does NOT cancel your subscription.

Here's what to do:

If You're Using Apple:

- On your device, go to Settings > Apple ID > Subscriptions
- Find your BonkList subscription and cancel it
- Need help? Visit: <https://getsupport.apple.com>

If You're Using Google Play:

- Open the Google Play app
- Go to Profile > Payments & Subscriptions > Subscriptions
- Find and cancel your BonkList subscription
- Need help? Check Google's support page

Once canceled, your subscription remains active until the end of the current billing cycle — and then ends automatically.

Refunds? Maybe... But Heads-Up!

- If you request a refund through an External Service (like Apple), we have no say in the decision
- If you do get a refund, BonkList reserves the right to close your account, assuming you no longer want the service.

Ran into a Problem?

Our Customer Support team is here for you
(Refund details for eligible users are in Section 8d.)

In Short:

- Don't forget where you bought your subscription from
- Cancel it through the same platform
- You can ask for help from us or Apple/Google
- Refunds = possible account closure
- And remember: Deleting the app ≠ Canceling your subscription!

8b. In-App Purchases – (Internal) Subscriptions Handled by Us

Some BonkList features and subscription plans are available directly through our website or app.

We call these “Internal Purchases” — meaning no Apple or Google in the mix. It's just between you and us.

The Quick Rundown:

- When you buy a subscription, we charge your Payment Method directly.
- Unless you cancel, your subscription will automatically renew.
- You'll be charged the price shown at checkout, plus any applicable taxes.
- Payment dates might shift a bit — we try to keep things flexible so you're not caught off guard.

When Do We Charge You?

- After the first billing period, your subscription continues at the same price and duration.
- You authorize us to charge you for all payments.
- If your card gets updated (like a new expiration date), we may use the new info automatically.

What If I Ask for a Refund?

- Requesting a refund means you're not satisfied with your subscription.
- In this case, BonkList reserves the right to close your account at its sole discretion.
- If the refund fails or something goes wrong, please reach out to Customer Support.

Details? Check Section 8d for more.

Want to Cancel?

- Log into the app or website
- Go to “Account > Subscription”
- Click the Cancel button

After canceling, you can keep using your subscription until the end of your current period. After that, it won't renew.

Card Didn't Get Charged?

If:

- Your card expired
- You had insufficient funds
- Or the payment just failed...

You're still responsible for the balance.

And yes — if you update your card, we may use the new info to complete the charge.

One Technical Note (But It Matters):

Payments are made in the name of Hadisatalım Biz A.Ş. (Yep — that's us.)

Your payments may also be subject to terms from your bank or card provider.

In short:

Starting a subscription is easy — and you stay in control.

We've made it simple and clear for you to cancel whenever you like.

Still have questions? We're always here.

8c. Challenges – Fun? Oh Yes. Refunds? Nope.

On BonkList, you might want to join a “Challenge” — think special content, task chains, or time-limited events.

These can be a blast...

...but just know: once you join, no take-backs — and no refunds!

What Does Joining a Challenge Mean?

When you enter a Challenge, we grant you a:

- Personal
- Non-transferable
- Revocable
- Non-sublicensable

License to participate.

This license can only be bought from us or an authorized partner.

It gives you the right to join — but doesn't make the challenge "yours."

Translation: You're buying access, not ownership.

Is Challenge Credit Money? Nope.

- Your challenge balance is not actual money.
- It's not a bank account, can't be withdrawn, and isn't stored value.
- You won't be charged for not using it — but you also won't get refunds for unused balances.

When Does Your Challenge License End?

Your challenge license ends if:

- BonkList shuts down its services
- Your account is suspended or terminated
- The challenge feature is removed from the app

And yes — whether it's you or us who closes your account, unused challenge credits are non-refundable.

Who Can Use Challenges?

Only you!

You may not:

- Transfer them to others
- Resell them
- Share or give them away
- Use them outside BonkList

They're strictly for use within the app.

What Can BonkList Do?

At our sole discretion, we can:

- Change challenge prices
- Make some free, others paid
- Modify or remove features

And we're not obligated to compensate anyone for these changes.

No Refunds. Period.

Let's be extra clear:

All challenge participation through BonkList is FINAL.

If you join — that's it.

Even if your account is shut down (by you or by us) — you can't claim refunds or compensation for unused challenges.

In short:

Challenges on BonkList are exciting, fun, and maybe even rewarding — but once you join, that decision sticks.

No refunds, no rollbacks. Choose wisely, enjoy wildly.

8d. Refunds – Rare, But Possible (Depending on Where You Live)

Our general rule is simple:

What you buy is final — no take-backs.

But hey, depending on where you live, local laws might say otherwise. Let's break it down.

General Rule:

All purchases (subscriptions, challenges, etc.) are non-refundable.

That means:

- Whether you've used the service or not,
- Whether the subscription period is partially used or not,

No refunds.

BUT — if your country's local laws give you refund rights, we respect that.

If You're in the EU, EEA, UK, or Switzerland:

Good news!

You have the right to cancel and get a full refund within 14 days after your subscription starts — no reason needed.

Just remember: the 14-day countdown begins once your subscription starts.

If You're in Germany:

You can cancel your subscription with 1 month's notice after renewal.

You also always have the right to terminate with cause (e.g., serious reasons).

If You're in the Republic of Korea:

You're entitled to a full refund within 7 days of your purchase if it involves:

- A subscription
- An unused challenge

If You're in Certain U.S. States or in Israel:

(Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, Wisconsin)

You get extra protections:

- You can cancel a subscription within 3 business days (by midnight) without any charges.
- If the subscriber passes away during the subscription term, we'll refund the remaining period.
- If you have a serious health condition that prevents you from using the service, you can get a refund for the unused time from the start of the condition.

How to Request a Refund:

Subscribed through Apple?

We don't process those refunds — Apple does.

Here's how to request it:

Go to:

Settings > Apple ID > iTunes & App Store > View Apple ID > Purchase History > "Report a Problem"

Or go straight to Apple Support → <https://getsupport.apple.com>

For all other refund requests through BonkList:

1. Prepare a signed and dated statement saying something like:
"I hereby cancel this agreement."
2. Include your order number (you'll find it in your confirmation email).
3. Add your email address or phone number so we can reach you.

Send it to:

Hadisatalım Biz Elektronik Ticaret ve Pazarlama Hizmetleri A.Ş.

Emniyet Evler Mah. Eski Büyükdere Cad.

Sapphire Sit. No:1/1

Kagithane, İstanbul, Turkey

Subject: Cancellation

In short:

- Refunds are generally not available
- But you might have rights based on where you live
- Not sure what applies to you? Just reach out — we'll figure it out together!

9. Saying Goodbye to Your Account...

Sometimes, we part ways.

Maybe it's just a break.

Maybe it's forever. ❤️

Whatever the reason, if you want to leave BonkList, here's how to do it — and a few essential things to know before you go.

Want to Delete Your Account?

To delete your BonkList account:

1. Log into your account on the app or website
2. Go to the “Settings” section
3. Tap on “Delete Account”
4. Follow the steps shown on screen

And you’re done.

But heads up:

Deleting your account does NOT cancel your subscriptions.

If you purchased a subscription through iTunes, Google Play, or similar platforms, you’ll need to cancel them directly through those services — or they might keep charging you.

Can BonkList Delete Your Account?

Unfortunately, yes — in some cases.

If you:

- Violate our Terms of Use,
- Abuse our services,
- Engage in inappropriate, harmful, or illegal behavior...

BonkList reserves the right to suspend or permanently close your account.

We may not always notify you in advance.

And if this happens, no refunds will be given.

What Happens After Deletion?

No matter who deletes the account — you or us:

- Some parts of these Terms will still apply (like content licenses, privacy obligations, and payment terms).
- After deletion, your data will either be securely stored or deleted, as explained in our [Privacy Policy].

One Last Thing:

If you’re feeling burned out and need a break, talk to us before you delete. Maybe all you need is a pause, not a full goodbye.

We’ll be here when (and if) you’re ready to come back.

10. No ID Checks — But Common Sense Is Always Welcome

When you join BonkList, we won’t ask for your criminal record, ID verification, or background checks.

That’s not part of what this app is about.

Why? Because:

- BonkList is all about creating a respectful and fun community,

- But we can't control everyone's behavior,
- So anything users do — inside or outside BonkList — is your own responsibility when interacting with them.

What You Should Know:

- BonkList does not perform background checks on users.
- We do not guarantee anyone's identity, character, health, intentions, or honesty.
- However, we reserve the right to perform checks using publicly available info if necessary (like screening for sex offenders, for example).
- If such a check is needed, you agree that the info you provided can be used for that purpose.

Your Safety = Your Superpower

When talking to or meeting someone new:

- Use common sense
- Don't trust too quickly
- Be extra cautious if you're communicating outside the app
- Check out our [Safety Tips] (link coming soon!)

Messages you receive through the app might sometimes be automated — or, unfortunately, might come from someone with bad intentions.

Scams, abuse, harassment, and other shady behavior sadly exist all over the internet. So being alert = being smart.

The Bottom Line:

BonkList invites you to have fun — safely.

But remember:

Community safety is something we all share.

11. This Is Real Life — No Guarantees Here!

At BonkList, we're all about fun, creativity, and belly laughs. But we won't sell you a fantasy where everything is perfect. Because just like life, this place has its ups and downs.

What Do We Mean?

- BonkList is offered "as is."
- We don't promise:
 - "Everything will work flawlessly!"
 - "Every user will be amazing!"
 - "You'll definitely find love here!"
 - "Your sex life will be legendary!"
 - "We give you the most accurate sex ed ever!"
 - ...or anything else your imagination might cook up.

- Sometimes our services might hiccup — glitches, delays, or those “umm what just happened?” moments.
- Whether someone messages you, invites you to a challenge, or vibes with you romantically? That’s totally up to them.

Tech Stuff? Imperfect, Like All Things

- Viruses, freezes, crashes, lags... yeah, these things exist.
- We do our best to keep BonkList smooth and stable — but we can’t promise zero bugs or perfect uptime.

Users? Full of Surprises

- Want to talk to someone? Awesome!
But don’t forget:
 - We can’t vouch for anyone’s identity, intentions, or truthfulness.
 - Who reaches out to you — and what they do next — is out of our hands.
 - If you choose to meet someone IRL, that’s your call and your responsibility.

Our Promise?

We’ll keep working hard to make BonkList a safe, fun, and positive space.
But your best safety tool? Your own common sense.

So stay sharp. Think twice. And keep in mind:
As colorful as the internet is... it still deserves caution.

12. Copyright Issues? Oh, We’re Serious About That.

We’re all about fun — but respecting intellectual property is non-negotiable.

If someone’s content disrespects your work, we want to be the ones to say: “Stop right there!”
But for that, we need you to let us know.

So, What Should You Do?

BonkList complies with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA).

If you believe that something on BonkList is infringing your copyright — or the copyright of someone you legally represent — you can submit a formal DMCA Takedown Notice to us.

Your Notice Must Include:

1. A physical or digital signature from the copyrightowner themselves or the person authorized to act on behalf of the copyright owner
2. A description of the copyrighted work you believe has been infringed (or a list, if there are multiple)
3. A description of the content you want removed, with enough detail so we can find it

4. Your contact info: a mailing address, phone number, and (if possible) email address
5. A clear statement that: “I believe in good faith that the use of this material is not authorized by the copyright owner, their agent, or the law”
6. And finally, a big, serious statement saying:
“The information in this notice is accurate, and I swear I’m either the copyright owner or legally authorized to act on their behalf.”

Where Do You Send It?

You’ve got a few ways to reach us:

- Email: legal@bonklist.com
- Mail: Send a good ol’ letter to our company address (yep, the one mentioned earlier)
- Phone: You can call us if needed, but for official copyright claims, written communication works best.

Bonus Fact (Because We’re That Kind of Platform):

Users who repeatedly cause copyright headaches?

We reserve the right to terminate their accounts permanently.

Because while BonkList is all about fun,

it’s also about respecting creativity and giving credit where it’s due.

13. Ads, Sponsors & Other Planets in the BonkList Galaxy

BonkList is a galaxy of fun —

but every now and then, a sponsored star might shine through.

Here’s what you might bump into during your journey:

- Advertisements
- Sponsored content
- Links to external sites
- Promos like: “Watch this video, earn a challenge!”

Now let’s be real:

Just because something shows up in BonkList doesn’t mean we fully endorse it.

If an ad claims “the best sandwich in the universe,” we can’t promise you’ll love every bite just because it appeared in our app.

What You Should Know:

- Watching ads may sometimes unlock extra features — but we don’t guarantee ads will always show up (or reward anything).
- Clicking an external link launches you into another planet (read: website), where their rules apply — not ours.
- What happens there? That’s between you and them.
(Kind of like your ex: it’s out of our hands now.)
- Any issues with those third-party services, products, or sites? That’s between you and them — we’re not involved.

In short:

BonkList is built for your fun —
but when you wander off to other galaxies (ads, links, offers), take your logic, common sense, and a sprinkle of BonkList spirit with you.

14. If Something Goes Wrong — How Responsible Are We, Really?

Let's keep it real:

Fun is our thing — but we're no magic wand wavers. ✨

If something goes wrong while using BonkList — like someone gives you bad advice, the app crashes temporarily, or someone sneaks into your account —
we'll do our best to help.
But our responsibility has some clear boundaries.

Let's be transparent:

- The app might glitch sometimes — blame the internet gremlins.
- If someone posts something you don't like, that's their behavior, not ours.
- If someone tries to access your account?
We've got security in place, but we can't guarantee we'll block every threat.

What About Compensation?

To the fullest extent permitted by law:

- Our liability to you is capped at USD100,00-
- Or the total amount you've paid to BonkList in the last 24 months — whichever is higher.

That means:

Even if the world catches fire, BonkList implodes,
and your phone launches you into space (hope it doesn't)...
we're not liable beyond that cap.
(Not just us — this is standard for digital services.)

A Tiny Note:

Some places may not allow these kinds of limits.
So depending on where you live, this section might not fully apply.
But know this — no matter what,
we're always aiming to be clear, fair, and on your side.

Because while you own the fun,
we've got your back when it comes to clarity and safety.

15. If One Day We Disagree? (We Hope That Never Happens!)

At BonkList, we're all about good memories, epic challenges, and loud laughs. But if, one day, something goes wrong between us (very unlikely — but hey, life happens!), it's good to know how we'll handle it.

If You're in Europe (EU, EEA, the UK, or Switzerland):

- Some parts of this section don't apply to you (like 15b, 15c, 15d, and 15e).
- That's because your region has different rules, and we totally respect that.
- You can access the European Commission's Online Dispute Resolution platform here: [link]

BonkList does not participate in formal EU consumer arbitration boards — but we do promise to always try resolving things in good faith, with kindness and clarity.

Bottom line:

We hope we only ever share fun moments together, and this section just sits here gathering digital dust.

But if something goes wrong, sitting down and talking it through is always a great place to start, right? Please just drop us an email regarding what you think is not going well and let's discuss.

15a. Let's Talk First — Shall We?

We all know life throws curveballs sometimes.

But here at BonkList, we believe in the power of a good old-fashioned conversation.

If you're confused about something in our service, feeling disappointed, or think something might've gone sideways — please message us first. You've got our contact info!

Got a Serious Concern? Write to Us!

If things are a bit more serious, and it looks like legal action might be involved, we kindly ask that you send us a formal Notice first. (Yes, letters still matter. Especially heartfelt ones.)

Your Notice should include:

1. Your full name
2. Enough info to identify your account: profile photo (screenshot is fine!), phone number, email, birthday (if you shared it)
3. What happened? What are you feeling? What's your claim? What outcome are you hoping for?

Don't forget to sign your letter!

Likewise, if BonkList needs to reach you about something, we'll contact you through email or in-app messages — clearly and sincerely explaining why.

What Happens Next?

We'd love to talk with you one-on-one.
So, we may reach out by phone to chat. If you have a lawyer, they're welcome to join.
(Of course, that works both ways — you can contact us and we'll be there, too.)

The goal: Friendly, fair discussion to solve things together.

A 60-Day Peace Window

Once we receive a full, valid Notice,
we both commit to a 60-day cooling-off period to try and resolve the issue calmly.

If that doesn't work, arbitration or court may come next.
But again — talk first, process later. That's our vibe.

Small But Important Notes:

- If the issue is very serious (like a sexual harassment claim), you can skip the letter and go straight to formal action.
- While we're negotiating, the statute of limitations pauses — no rush!
- If it goes to arbitration, it'll take place in Istanbul (not yet the fun capital of the world, but definitely our legal HQ).
- All talks during the resolution process are confidential. Nothing said can be used as evidence later — pinky swear.

In Short:

If things ever get bumpy,
let's start with a real conversation.

We're here. We're listening.
And who knows — maybe we can work it out together.

15b. JUST YOU & US — No Class Actions, No Jury Trials

Let's be honest: most of us prefer to solve things personally, one-on-one. That's why — to the fullest extent allowed by law — you and BonkList agree to resolve all disputes individually. That means:

- No jury trials
- No “let's all sue together” class actions
- No banding together with others to bring a lawsuit against us

You're voluntarily waiving any right to:

- Start or join a class action
- Consolidate your case with someone else's
- Be part of any group legal action against BonkList

This also applies to existing legal proceedings.

The arbitrator can grant any relief a court could bring (like an injunction), but only for the individual bringing the claim. So:

- No relief for others
- No representative, group, or “on behalf of” judgments

If a court decides that a part of this section (like banning class-wide injunctive relief) doesn’t apply to your claim and makes that ruling final, then only that part will be handled in court. The rest of the dispute goes to individual arbitration.

But — and this is important — if a court rules that this whole section is invalid, then our entire arbitration agreement (this Section 15) is void. Even then, the part about waiving jury trials and trying friendly resolution still applies. That’s how much we believe in it.

15c. Arbitration or Court? Let’s Get Clear

Let’s say:

- Our Customer Support didn’t resolve your issue
 - The friendly chat in 15a didn’t work out
- Here’s what’s next:

Most disagreements will go to binding individual arbitration.

But there are some exceptions:

- Either of us can choose the small claims court for individual matters
- Any claims involving sexual harassment or misconduct will follow a separate process in Section 17

If arbitration has started but no arbitrator has been assigned yet, and one of us decides, “I’d rather take this to court,” the arbitration will be paused while a court determines if that’s okay.

Only the relevant court can decide if:

- It is eligible for small claims court.
- It has either side waived arbitration.
- This section is even valid.

If the court says “nope, I’m not the right court,” we go back to arbitration.

And just so we’re clear:

- If a lower court rules in your favor but a higher one overturns it, it only applies to your case — it doesn’t affect anyone else.

Any appeals or challenges to the arbitrator’s decision will follow the process laid out in Section 17.

Oh, and if this entire arbitration clause (Section 15) is ever ruled unenforceable:

- All lawsuits against BonkList (except valid small claims) must be brought only in Istanbul, Türkiye, in a competent local court.
- And yes, you accept the jurisdiction of those courts — no objections allowed.

15d. If We're Going to Arbitration — Here's the Deal

(Time to go 1-on-1 — no group cases allowed!)

If:

- You completed the informal steps in 15a
- Neither side chose the small claims court
- And the issue is now submitted for arbitration...

Then it's on!

All arbitration between you and BonkList will be governed by the arbitration body's "Comprehensive Dispute Resolution Rules" that were in effect when the demand was submitted. But we'll follow these rules only in the way this Agreement (especially Section 15) says.

What if the arbitration organization backs out or refuses the case?

Then:

- You and we will choose a new arbitration provider that fits the spirit of this Agreement
- If that provider's rules conflict with this Agreement — this Agreement takes priority

Still stuck?

If we can't agree on a new provider, a competent court will choose one for us — but even then, our Agreement stays in charge of the process.

Quick Reminder:

Section 15d applies only if the friendly resolution period is over and no one requested small claims court.

Want to know what the arbitration process looks like? Just reach out. We'll guide you through.

15e. Past, Present & Future — What Counts?

This one's important — because sometimes issues pop up from way back.

This entire Section 15 applies to all disputes between you and BonkList — Whether the disagreement happened:

- Before you accepted this Agreement
- Or after

Yep, you read that right.

Both past and future issues are covered under this dispute resolution section, even if they happened long ago but weren't resolved yet.

But don't worry, we're not here to trap you.

You can opt out of this rule — at least for past issues.

Here's how:

1. Send us an email within 30 days of accepting this Agreement
2. Email us at: legal@bonklist.com
3. Your message must include:
 - The email or phone tied to your BonkList account (so we can verify you)
 - A clear sentence like:
"I am opting out of the retroactive application of Section 15 (Dispute Resolution)."

But note:

- Even if you opt out for past events, you're still bound by any arbitration or class-action waivers you agreed to in previous versions of our Terms.
- And anything that happens after you accepted this Agreement is still subject to all of Section 15.

So, in short:

- You can say "no thanks" to applying this section retroactively
- But not to future disputes — those still count.

16. Governing Law – Where the Rules Come From

Fun is our game, but when things get serious, we turn to the law.

If there's ever a disagreement between you and BonkList, it will be handled under:

- The laws of the Republic of Türkiye, and
- Any rulings from an arbitration body, if applicable

That means our legal foundation is solid and official — not made up on the spot.

Live in the EU, EEA, UK, or Switzerland?

If the mandatory consumer protection laws in your country don't allow us to apply Turkish law, then your local laws will take the lead. We totally respect that.

Otherwise, it's all handled under Turkish law. Simple as that.

17. Where Do We Meet? – Jurisdiction and Venue

If things don't go to arbitration and someone ends up filing a lawsuit — and the law doesn't say otherwise — then the official meetup spot is the Courts of Central Istanbul, Türkiye.

Yep, if things get that serious, we'll be seeing each other in a courtroom in Istanbul.

But hey, there are some exceptions:

If you live in the European Union, the European Economic Area, the United Kingdom, or Switzerland, and your local laws require a different court or jurisdiction, or your claim needs to go through a small claims court, then your local justice system gets to take the lead.

Outside of those cases, though:

- The only place to settle legal stuff is Central Courts of Istanbul, Türkiye
- And both you and we (BonkList) agree in advance to their authority
- No hopping over to another courtroom somewhere else — sorry, not an option!

18. “Blame Me!” – Liability and Indemnity

If some legal trouble comes knocking at BonkList's door because of something you did, you may need to step up and say:
“Hey, that one's on me.”

Let's break it down:

If your use of BonkList — including:

- The content you post,
- The way you interact with others,
- Or any violations of these Terms of Use —

...leads to any claim, loss, lawsuit, or damage against BonkList (including its affiliates, employees, directors, agents, and more),

You agree to take full responsibility and cover all resulting costs, including legal fees.

Basically:

Keep it cool, play fair, and don't drag us into trouble. If you do, you'll be the one cleaning up the mess.

Heads-up:

Some countries may limit or interpret indemnity rules differently.

So this clause may not apply in full where you live.

19. Do You Accept These Terms? (Spoiler: You Already Did!)

If you're scrolling BonkList, tapping buttons, or just opening the app to peek around — you've already said “Yes!” to these Terms of Service.

That includes:

- This very agreement (which we might tweak from time to time),
- Our Privacy Policy,
- Our Cookie Policy,
- Our Community Guidelines and Safety Tips,
- And any extra terms that come with purchases.

By continuing to use BonkList, you're saying:
"I've read it, I get it, and I'm totally on board."

Don't agree with the terms?

Then sadly, you shouldn't use BonkList. (We'll miss you, but rules are rules.)

Small but important note:

Whether we say "you," "they," "he," "she," or "them" — it includes everyone, no matter the gender or number. BonkList is for all.

20. It's All in This Agreement (No Hidden Surprises)

This document — yes, the one you're reading — is the whole deal between you and BonkList.

It includes:

- These Terms of Service,
- Our Privacy Policy,
- Cookie Policy,
- Community Guidelines,
- Safety Tips,
- And any purchase-related terms.

Anything said, emailed, whispered, or doodled before?

Doesn't count. This is the real agreement.

If any part of this document turns out to be invalid or unenforceable — don't worry, the rest still stands strong.

If we don't enforce a right immediately, it doesn't mean we've waived it. We're just picking our moment like a strategic ninja.

And in the event of your passing (hopefully many, many years from now) — your account and content rights come to an end.

Accounts aren't transferrable — unless local law says otherwise.

BonkList, however, can transfer or assign its rights and responsibilities to someone else. You, unfortunately, cannot. Sorry.

And finally:

This agreement does not make you a BonkList partner, agent, joint venturer, CEO, or CEO's third cousin.

You can't make promises, sign deals, or speak on our behalf — but you can have fun with us all you want.

21. Special Conditions for Certain Regions

Different places, different rules!

If you live in Israel, Denmark, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, or Wisconsin, you may have additional rights.

To find out what applies to you, just send us a note at legal@bonklist.com from the email linked to your BonkList account. We'll send back the details and any useful links!

Notes for Residents of These Regions:

Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, Wisconsin:

You can cancel your subscription within 3 business days of starting it — no fees, no questions asked, just do it before midnight.

If you pass away before your subscription ends (we hope not!), your family can get a refund for any unused time.

If a health issue keeps you from using BonkList, you can also request a refund for the remaining period — just follow the steps in Section 8 to file your request.

Living in Denmark?

You can cancel by simply writing to us.

But if you subscribed through Apple, you'll need to go through Apple.

One big exception:

If you ordered digital content (like Challenges) and agreed to “start now and waive cancellation rights,” then you can't cancel or refund that purchase.

Those are final, non-refundable, and non-changeable.
